Summary

It was a sideways moving FTSE 100, staying above Pivot.

One good trading opportunity during the morning.

Analysts and signals say that going Long now would not be suitable as there is limited upside. Signals tell us to go Long after significant pull-downs.

Gann didn't have much to go on with the FTSE movement on Friday, though the FTSE did get very close to weak resistance at its lowest point.

We have re-traced Fibonacci, though this can change if we continue to move above 7520, and the FTSE has been moving between Pivot and top of Fib'.
